JUNIOR ORDER UNITED AMERICAN MECHANICS IN SESSION.

Special Correspondence of The Star.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., October 21, 1905.

Two hundred members of the Junior Order United American Mechanics, representing councils of that order in the counties of Fairfax, Loudoun, Prince William and Alexandria, met this evening at 8 o'clock in Saxe Hall, on King street, as the guests of Alexandria Council, No. 33, and Belle Haven Council, No. 61, both of this city. The principal business of the gathering was the conferring of degrees of the order upon a class. The program was also designed as a means of instruction to the newly organized councils in this section of the state. Most of the visitors reached Alexandria this evening about 7:30 o'clock on a train over the Bluemont division of the Southern road. They were met by the local delegation of Alexandria mechanics and were escorted to the hall on King street. The procession was led by a brass band.

The exercises opened with devotional services, after which degrees were conferred by a special team composed of members of Alexandria Council, assisted by members of Belle Haven Council. The ceremony was under the direction of Capt. Frank Peverell of this city. The principal speaker of the evening was delivered by Mr. Z. P. Smith, of the District of Columbia, and was chairman of the national legislative committee. He spoke in the highest terms of the principles of the order, and his statements were warmly applauded. The hall was prettily decorated. Music by the band interspersed the speaking and ceremonies.

Among the officials of the order present were: Messrs. E. L. S. Bouton of Vienna, National Council in attendance; O. B. Hopkins of Richmond, past national representative; Eugene Colver of Berkeley, state councilor; James W. Jones of Vienna, state vice councilor; James R. Mansfield of this city, past state councilor; F. C. Elliott and G. N. Cradlin of this city, members of the state council finance committee. The following councils were represented: Dunn Loring, Purcellville, Round Hill, Hamilton, Lovettsville, Waterford, Herndon, Vienna, Fairfax, Manassas and Mount Jackson.

Special Praise Service.

Special praise services will be held next Tuesday evening at the Second Presbyterian Church, under the auspices of the Western choir league of that church. The league choir will sing several new hymns and there will be solos by Mrs. Field, Mrs. Mander and Misses Pierpont, Moore, Bonitz and Graves. The following composed the music committee of the league: Mrs. R. L. S. Field, chairman; Mrs. Mander; Mrs. Jackson; and Messrs. A. C. Slaymaker, Lucy Graves, Mary Moore, Maggie Scott, Altha Swain, Grace Haynes, Violet Proctor, Virginia Brooke, Eva Marmaduke, Etta Jackson, and Messrs. A. C. Slaymaker, Frank L. Slaymaker and Dr. J. H. Bitzer.

General Matters.

The sermon at late mass tomorrow at St. Mary's Catholic Church will be delivered little more than an overgrown, straggling town, with dirt roads where now are smooth concrete streets, six of the city's butchers, by mutual arrangement, met at the home of one of their number and formed what was known as the Washington Butchers' Club. The purposes of the organization were twofold, and can be expressed by two words—pleasure and profit. In those good old days western meat, refrigerated beef, packed products and the like were unknown quantities.

Fringed about the city were the old-fashioned slaughter houses, now almost things of the past, which supplied the citizens of the capital with home-killed and home-dressed cattle that had been raised in the surrounding counties of Washington. Therefore, half a century ago the butcher was quite an important personage in the community. Consequently, when the butchers' club was formed it was treated as quite a social event in old Washington.

Its First President.

The first president of the club was John Henry Clark, who enjoyed the distinction of having supplied the White House larder with juicy roasts of beef and lamb and other meats. Associated with him in the club were John Joachim, Gustave Kilmory, George Karl and two others. The club not only gave parties and other functions, but had a benefit feature.

From this little club of fifty years ago has grown the present prosperous and progressive Washington Butchers' Benevolent Association, which was chartered by Congress in 1870, and now has an active membership of eighty-one substantial business men.

Next Tuesday evening the members of the association have arranged to celebrate in a befitting manner the fiftieth anniversary of the birth of the society. The celebration will take the form of a banquet at the residence of the president, Mr. George J. Bessler, who will be the guest of honor. The officers of the association promise that the "golden jubilee spread," as Mr. George J. Bessler, the treasurer, termed the forthcoming banquet, will be of the most elaborate character. "And," he added, "the tables will actually groan with the good things that will be placed upon them."

Committee of Arrangements.

The arrangements for the celebration are in the hands of the president of the society, Mr. Charles F. Begner, who will address the guests and members in German; Mr. Fritz P. Hess, and Dr. Starak, who will speak for the press.

Pretty illuminated souvenir invitations have been sent out and it is expected that at least 150 guests will come from Baltimore.

PHI DELTA FRATERNITY.

Local Alumni Club Wants Biennial Convention Held Here.

The grand council of the Phi Delta fraternity having been empowered at the last convention, held in Indianapolis, Ind., to select the next place for holding its biennial convention, the local alumni club will urge that this city be chosen for that purpose. This action was decided on at a meeting of the club last evening at the University Club. The time for the biennial convention is Thanksgiving week, 1906.

It is explained that a national convention of the Phi Delta fraternity has never been held in this city. During the last few years the alumni club has gradually increased in numbers and influence, until it is now ranked among the three best in the fraternity. Seldom has an alumni club undertaken to entertain a convention without the aid of a local chapter, but the suggestion of a Washington convention has met with unbounded approbation, not only among local members, but others throughout the country. The latter will possibly share the honors of host.

WANTS TO JOIN HER FATHER.

Young Girl Immigrant Held in Baltimore Hospital.

A sixteen-year-old girl named Enie Kabinisky, who says her father, Jacob Kabinisky, lives at 807 4th street southeast, in this city, is held under observation in a Baltimore hospital by the surgeon of the immigration bureau there until it is determined whether the disease of trachoma with which she is said to have suffered is eradicated. If she has been cured she will be allowed to come to her relatives in Washington.

JONADABS CELEBRATE.

Local Council Commemorates Member's Anniversary.

The hall of Centennial Council, No. 4, Sons of Jonadab, in Pythian Temple, was crowded to its utmost last night, when the members from the different councils in the district assembled to celebrate the thirty-eighth anniversary of Wm. H. Young as a member of the order. Numerous congratulatory telegrams were received by Mr. Young during the evening from all parts of the country. Speeches were made by Sovereign Chief S. H. Willey, Vice Sovereign Chief J. F. Riley, Wm. H. Young, R. B. Dickey of Potomac Council, Harper's Ferry, W. Va., and others. Vocal and instrumental music was rendered by Messrs. Jordan, Robison and Preston. Refreshments were served.

Buscher, Joseph Geyer, Carl Mueller, Fritz Hess and George J. Bessler, receptionists, John Dietz, C. Miller, Charles A. Nichols, Arthur, Henry Geyer, Carl Schultz, Jacob Miller and Clemens Krogmann; floor—Albert Hammer, Andrew Auth, George Yaeger, Carl Hess, W. M. Roth, George J. Bessler, John Appich, Frank Wiegand, Jr., Chris Schmidt and George Bakersmith; ladies' committee—Mrs. Joseph Geyer, Mrs. Fritz Hess, Mrs. J. H. Buscher, Mrs. J. J. Appich, Mrs. George J. Bessler and Mrs. J. P. Dietz.

The speakers at the banquet will include Rev. Charles F. Begner, who will address the guests and members in German; Mr. Fritz P. Hess, and Dr. Starak, who will speak for the press.

Pretty illuminated souvenir invitations have been sent out and it is expected that at least 150 guests will come from Baltimore.

SUCCESSOR TO CULLOM

CAMPAIGN IN ILLINOIS HAS ALREADY OPENED.

Special Correspondence of The Star.

CHICAGO, October 19, 1905.

A campaign is now on in Illinois which will result practically in the election of a United States senator by popular vote. By a recent law of the Illinois legislature the political parties of the state are permitted to hold senatorial primaries, in which they may declare their choice for United States senator. Of course, the legislature will elect the successor of Senator Shelby M. Cullom, but it will not venture to do otherwise than to follow the choice expressed by the republicans in their primary. This primary is to be held next spring.

The legislature being overwhelmingly republican, the democrats will hold no primary. Any man may become a candidate for indorsement for a seat in the upper house of Congress by getting up a petition signed by 5 per cent of the voters of his party. This entitles him to have his name placed on the primary ballot.

Senator Cullom opened his campaign at the recent state fair at Springfield, following the political custom in vogue in the days of Lincoln. There, also, was former Governor Richard Yates, Cullom's chief rival. And there, also, was Lieut. Governor Lawrence Y. Sherman, who, like Cullom, resembles Lincoln, tells stories like Lincoln, cultivates a Lincoln manner, and aspires, or did aspire, to the Sangamon country statesman's toga.

A third candidate present was former Attorney General Howard J. Hamlin, who, for some considerable activity against the corporations while the chief law officer of the state has come to be regarded as another Polk or LaFollette.

Senator Cullom's lieutenants express every confidence that he will win, yet it is known they dread the results of a stump campaign by Yates. Yates, a clever and winning politician, with an undeniable personal magnetism, they know from experience that he is able to accomplish wonders in the way of winning votes in a winning campaign. They fear especially his influence on the younger voters, who are the more easily carried away by his own youthful fire and enthusiasm.

That is the reason the shrewd old senator sought to win the Sherman and Hamlin following to his camp. While they are hostile to Yates they have been still more hostile to the federal or Cullom crowd. The senator believes they hold the balance of power and with their support he would feel sure of carrying the primary.

Refused to Pay Hack Hire.

Albert Hans, driver of a public vehicle, complained to the police of the ninth precinct last night that two of his passengers, Jesse McMahon and George King, had refused to pay a bill of $1.20, so he caused their arrest. The young men were held at the police station a short time and were then released upon furnishing collateral. The case will be heard by Judge Mulowny tomorrow morning.

BONAPARTE'S VIEWS

Told Tersely in Address at Rising Sun, Md.,

ON THE POE AMENDMENT

ITS PURPOSE TO TURN STATE OVER TO DEMOCRATIC MACHINE.

Address at Largely Attended Republican Meeting Yesterday—Maryland Not for Democracy With Fair Vote.

RISING SUN, Md., October 21.—At a largely attended republican meeting here today Secretary of the Navy Chas. J. Bonaparte delivered an address which was devoted chiefly to a denunciation of the proposed amendment to the state constitution to limit the suffrage, which will be voted on at the November election. After declaring that the purpose of the amendment was to turn the state over to the democratic machine, which, he said, had stolen seven of the electoral votes of Maryland from Roosevelt and Fairbanks, he spoke as follows:

"To tell the meaning of the adoption of the Poe amendment as it will affect national issues is an easy job for a second-class politician. If it is adopted the eight electoral votes of Maryland will be forever assured to the democratic candidate for the presidency, whoever he may be and whatever may be the sentiments and wishes of the people of Maryland. If the next democratic convention shall nominate Mr. Bryan those votes will be cast for Mr. Bryan. If it shall nominate Mr. Hearst they will be cast for Mr. Hearst. If it shall nominate Gov. Vardaman they will be cast for Gov. Vardaman."

"This is a matter of opinion, it is a matter of fact. These results are not probable, they are certain; as certain as the continuance of our government or the preservation of our national independence."

Effort to Deprive the People.

"It is now proposed, in effect, to take away from the people of Maryland the right to choose presidential electors, as well as congressmen and all other officers, and to vest this right for all time in the little group of unscrupulous men who must and will adhere inflexibly to the democratic candidates, although these may not have been their previous choice, because this course is needed to preserve their party regularity and consequent control of the party organization. All hope of securing even one electoral vote from Maryland for the republican candidates in 1908 must be abandoned. This prospect is, I think, hardly without interest, either to republicans or to friends of free government wherever they may live throughout the Union."

Secretary Bonaparte maintained that with a fair vote Maryland is a republican state on national issues. "There was a fair vote in 1888," he said, "under an election law prepared by the Baltimore Reform League and enacted by republicans. The issue was then distinctly and without disguise that of honest money and McKinley obtained a 23,000 majority. There was another in 1900, under the same law, when the true issue was the same, but in some measure clouded and confused by false issues arising from the fruits of the Spanish war. The result was no less decisive, although the majority fell to 14,000."

At the last election, after four years of democratic tampering with an honest law, the returns showed nothing certain except that the democratic river had been dammed in a great measure defeated the expression of the people's will at the polls."

ABANDONED SCHOONER BURNED.

Blaze Down the River Attracted Police Boat Vigilant.

The members of the crew of the police boat Vigilant last evening about 8:45 observed a bright light on the river opposite the power house, near the bridge from Shepherd's, and steamed down to ascertain the nature of the blaze. It was found that an abandoned schooner was burning. The police could not extinguish the blaze. When it was learned there was nobody aboard the schooner the Vigilant returned to her wharf. The old schooner, it is said, had been anchored off the magazine for many months, and of late had been seen aboard the craft. People feared the vessel might explode, and that the boat was worthless and that its owner had abandoned it. There was nothing found by the police to indicate the origin of the blaze, nor could they get an accurate idea of the amount of damage caused. Before the police boat left the scene of the fire the schooner had been burned to the water edge and surrounded with water. When the members of the crew used their glasses and saw that the boat might be about to explode and that a large amount of powder was on board, they fled.

ANNUAL FUNCTION

Planned Under Auspices of Jewish Hospital in New York.

NEW YORK, October 21.—Preparations are already in full swing for what is expected to be one of the largest social functions ever held under the auspices of the Beth Israel Hospital, which will take place at Madison Square Garden on Wednesday evening, March 14, 1906. Few other functions, balls or entertainments assume the importance in the minds of the Jewish population of the East Side of the annual event of the Beth Israel Hospital, which, situated in the heart of the thriving ghetto of Manhattan Island, is one of the most important and necessary institutions in its facilities. The statistics of the institution for the past twelve months speak most convincingly of its usefulness. During that period 1,491 patients were treated free in the wards, 42,417 in the dispensary, 8,908 consultations were had in the dispensary, 80,353 prescriptions were filled free of charge and 11,024 accident cases were treated. So much of the hospital's work is of a financial nature that the fact that 1,435 applications for admission to the hospital had to be refused during the year is a most gratifying fact. Directors and associates attached to the Beth Israel Hospital to exert the most strenuous efforts possible to make the entertainment and ball at Madison Square Garden a big success socially and financially.

To Improve Russian Press.

Nachin Sokoloff, the well-known Yiddish journalist, editor and publisher of "Hatzefira," has just been appointed a member of the commission for devising means for the improvement of the Russian press, which commissioner is under the leadership of Gen. Kubiko. Herr Sokoloff has accepted the invitation to join the commission and has just departed for St. Petersburg to attend its deliberations. Sokoloff was appointed at the behest of the president of the commission, Gen. Kubiko, and the appointment is regarded as a high honor among the Jews of Russia. The commission was to hold its sittings during the early part of this month in the Marinsky palace of St. Petersburg.
